FOREWORD

The purpose of this publication is to provide suggestions for the guidance of those who are in need of financial assistance in securing a college education.

No attempt has been made to furnish complete and detailed information concerning scholarships and opportunities for self-help in colleges and universities in Pennsylvania, but rather to provide in a general way such information as will serve as a guide to sources and possibilities of aids in defraying the cost of a college education. Those interested in scholarships and other forms of financial assistance should communicate directly with the registrar of the college in which they may be interested, for complete information.

The information contained in this publication was brought up-to-date and assembled by James G. Pentz, Chief of the Pre-Professional Credentials Division, Bureau of Professional Licensing.

California State Teachers College	$72 contingent fee	Co-ed	None.	8 to 10 positions open in college dining room. Loan fund available to juniors and seniors, not to exceed $200 a year.
Cheyney Training School for Teachers	$72 contingent fee	Co-ed	THE RICHARD HUMPHREYS FOUNDATION has generously established, for an indefinite period a limited number of scholarships and aids for Cheyney students. The scholarships varying from $50 to $125 a year are granted to students whose records indicate scholastic ability and character, and personal traits which are above the average. They represent professional promise of a high order and are bestowed with great discrimination. The aids are divided into two classes: The first class aids vary from $25 to $75 a year and are given to needy and deserving students who are able to maintain their scholastic standing as determined by their previous record. The second class aids varying from $25 to $50 a year are given to needy students of good character without reference to their scholastic standing. 4 Scholarships of $50 by the Penna. State Federation of Negro Women's Clubs. Open to women only who must be residents of Pennsylvania. 4 Sunday School Scholarships of $25 each.	Student employment within the college is intended to supplement whatever support the individual has from other sources. In no case can a student expect to earn sufficient money to cover all expenses. The average student job pays $75 over the entire college year. A few jobs pay more, but in such cases experienced workers are required and assignment is usually made to advanced students who have already served at the college in minor positions. Some of the jobs pay less than $75. Harry Thomas Memorial Student Loan Fund maintained largely by contributions from the Faculty and Staff. Though the college does not maintain a regular placement bureau, effort is made to help students and graduates find employment.
